

SEASONAL COACH (SUMMER)

Are you passionate about working with youth? Do you love learning about technology? Are you looking for a chance to impact your local community? Join us at EdTechHive as a STEM Coach for the Summer. We have a number of Junior and Senior Coach positions available.

EdTechHive is focused on empowering the next generation of leaders, game changers, and problem solvers through STEM Education. We provide a variety of programs for youth ages 4-14 to learn more about exciting topics like robotics, coding, 3D design, video game development, app development, and more! We run these programs at our new location in London, as well as in Aurora and the York Region.

Coaches on the EdTechHive team are fulfilled by working with kids to provide the best in STEM education and love to develop programs and resources to support youth and teachers alike. This is a part time position for the summer with a company that offers excellent potential for growth and competitive compensation for the right candidate who is dedicated to supporting our mission!
